

Book Buzz

so many books...so little time

The Lighter Side of Vampire Fiction

Davidson, Mary Janice. Undead and Unemployed. 2004. Collection: Fiction

Call #: Davidson

Not sure how she wound up as the new Vampire Queen, Betsy's antics perplex both her human and vampire acquaintances.

Fox, Andrew. Bride of the Fat White Vampire. 2004. Collection: Fiction Call #: Fox

Jules Duchon is an undead, overweight cabbie in New Orleans who made his debut in Fat White Vampire Blues.

Harris, Charlaine. Dead to the World. 2004. Collection: Fiction Call #: Harris

Telepathic Sookie Stackhouse waits tables in a rural Louisiana bar while dating Bill the Vampire. She began her close encounters with paranormal creatures in Dead Until Dark.

James, Dean. Decorated to Death. 2004. Collection: Mystery Call #: James

Dr. Simon Kirby-Jones is a gay, American vampire living in a small English village. Although known in academia for his well-researched biographies, his primary source of income is the novels he writes under a pseudonym.

MacAlister, Katie. Sex and the Single Vampire. 2004. Collection: Fiction

Call #: MacAlister

The Morovian Dark Ones were introduced in A Girl's Guide to Vampires, featuring librarian Joy Randall. She and her friends return in another mad-cap caper featuring ghosts as well as human con artists.

Sands, Lynsay. Tall, Dark and Hungry. 2004. Collection: Fiction Call #: Sands

The Argeneaux family lives in Canada but their species came from Atlantis thousands of years ago. Brothers Lucern and Etienne met their matches in Single White Vampire (2003) and Love Bites (2004), now it's Bastien's turn.